2003 Award Recipient

Sherri L. Curria '93

Sherri Curria, you have shown yourself to be a leader, first while you were an undergraduate and now as an alumna. You have always placed the long-term mission of your alma mater at the forefront of your activities. Your involvement at WPI touches not only today's students and the entire alumni community; it also benefits the university far into its future. Your commitment to volunteerism and your desire to make a difference is an inspiration.

From your undergraduate days, you have demonstrated your desire to better the whole of the university community. You were a student government senator, a residence advisor, a WPI Big Sister, and a member of the committee on student advising. Your participation in ASCE, Skull and your sorority all underscore the integral part you played at WPI.

You have encouraged your classmates and fellow alumni not only to invest financially in the university today, but also to think toward its future. As president of your Class Board of Directors, you have provided guidance to your class and have endeavored to boost your class's participation in both volunteerism and annual support of WPI. Your service to the university is heightened by your efforts to expand the circle of volunteers from your class.

Sherri Curria, because of your commitment to volunteerism, WPI proudly recognizes your contributions and your loyalty by presenting you with the John Boynton Young Alumni Award for Service to WPI.
