1999 Award Recipient

Carleton F. Kilmer Jr. ’64

Carl Kilmer, your distinguished career at Andersen Consulting has been characterized by determination, growth and success. Your professional dedication to global management and technology-based consulting services over a span of thirty years has earned you the respect of WPI, as well as your colleagues and peers.

Following graduation from WPI, you served in the U.S. Army, including a tour of duty in Vietnam as an infantry officer. You then joined U.S. Envelope Company as a staff and project engineer, and soon afterward, pursued a graduate degree at Babson College.

Your path to success has been easy to follow in the highly competitive environment of Andersen Consulting. In 1979 you became a partner, a post reserved for the company's strongest performers. You have served Andersen in a number of capacities, including worldwide managing partner for aerospace and defense, industrial products, and automotive. As senior partner for electronics and high technology, you currently lead the company's largest division with your global management expertise.

You have been a consistent supporter of WPI and an advocate of the education it provides. You have served your class as a member of its 25th Reunion Gift Committee. You have assisted WPI in its development of a strategy for globalization as a member of the President's International Advisory Board. You were recently appointed to the Board of Trustees, where your talents will continue to have an impact on the future of WPI.

Carl Kilmer, your achievements bring great pride to WPI. It is with honor that we recognize your distinguished accomplishments by presenting you with the Robert H. Goddard Alumni Award for Outstanding Professional Achievement.
