People talk about culture and communication all the time but what exactly do those words mean?
Let's get right to it ...
What is Culture?

What is Communication?
Culture is …

- The learned shared behavior of members of the society.

- A social blueprint, a guide for living, the way of life of a society
  - Fulcher and Scott (1999)
Culture (continued)

- By culture sociologist mean the beliefs of the society and their symbolic representation through its creative activities …

- Culture can best be discussed between beliefs, which are the content of the culture, and creative activities, which express this content in actions or objects.

-J. Farley
Communication is …

- Everyday interaction depends on subtle relationships between what we convey with our faces and bodies and what we express in words.
- In many social interactions, we engage in unfocused interaction with others.

Unfocused interaction - takes place whenever individuals exhibit mutual awareness of one another's presence.

Focused interaction - occurs when individuals directly attend to what others say or do.
In order to survive, an infant must learn the skills, knowledge and accepted ways of behaving of the society into which it was born. It must learn a way of life; in sociological terminology, it must learn the culture of its society.
Walk the walk …
Communicating

- How was this experience for you?
- What did you learn?
- What did you expect to happen that didn’t?

○ Shereen: They think we're Arab. When did Persian become Arab?
It's just black people demeaning other black people, using that word over and over. You ever hear white people callin' each other "honky" all the time? "Hey, honky, how's work?" "Not bad, cracker, we're diversifying!"
